That the deaths of some people have been attributed to COVID-19 is a fact. But the numbers are being falsified, possibly to scare people, bring compliance, and eventually to mandate a vaccination. Bill Gates, who influences the World Health Organization with his philanthropy, is quoted by Dr. Rashid Buttar as saying, 'to de-populate, vaccinate.'

But the aim may not be merely to decimate the population. Theories circulating say it is also to control what is left of the population, by injecting chips with the vaccinations into humans, and manipulating them from the thousands of 5G satellites currently orbiting the earth. SciFi becomes fact, at least in these theories. I got a little too caught up in those theories and rumors, and am now moderating my views, as will be seen if the reader plows through the comments which follow, to their end.

In the event vaccination for COVID-19 is mandated, wouldn't it be wise to be a well-informed consumer before agreeing to be injected with something which could become deadly?

Of course, it has to be an individual choice and self-responsibility. There is a way to avoid vaccination, even if it is mandated. Wording to use, to legally decline vaccination, is given below. An informative video of an interview with a doctor passionate to inform the world about what is REALLY happening (in his view), is shown below.

Recently, I deleted the FB app on my iPad, to not be tempted to be as much online. The overload of contradictory 'information' mixed with much mis-information, is not helpful. To me, the picture of who the players are in the current Event becomes clearer, while their motives remain murky. Someone wrote to me, 'don't worry about which are the black pieces and which are the white. Just remember, at the end of the game, all pieces go back into the box.'

And it is true. Ultimately, there is not really good or evil. At this point in the timeline of 3D reality, from the very limited perspective of my personalized consciousness, it appears that the economy is collapsing, society teeters on the brink of martial law, and some very dark shadows loom Sauron-like overhead. Yet, my inner knowing knows this is all illusion, that nothing is fully as it appears. That is what keeps me from getting lost in the maze of information overload.

My friend wrote, 'While I don't know about the motives behind this virus, I can totally see your point that the government will use this to force vaccines on people.'

It was interesting to learn that Bill Gates controls the W.H.O. with his 'philanthropy'. And it was the W.H.O. who identified COVID19 as a pandemic. I am certain in my mind that Gates has an agenda with his vaccines. 5G is definitely part of the shadow agenda, as there is strong evidence that it breaks down cellular walls in humans. COVID19 is not merely a virus, that is clear.

Also, technology is developed to be able to include chips in vaccines, which can be used to identify people, and some say to manipulate people using 5G. It has been tested. I think it is not the government, but the wealthy elite like Bill Gates, who are behind the plot, and some governments follow along.

'I greatly appreciate the recommended ways to decline. It is really too bad how modernity is characterized by harm from our healers.'

The ways to decline could become critical. Hopefully we never have to use them. Personally, I would go to some lengths to avoid the so-called virus vaccine. There are many good people in the healing professions, many who want to help, and 'do no harm.' But, they are directed by a chain of command that goes up to the governors and commander in chief.

'No one seems to ask questions about cost versus benefit when it comes to the CDC recommendations.'

Since removing myself from online activity (ah, the bliss of quiet!) I am not as informed, neither as potentially mis-informed. I understand Trump wants to stop following recommendations from the W.H.O. or CDC. That would be a move of which I approve.

There are some twists and turns in the plot. One strong element is the global pedophilia ring and satanic rituals of the wealthy elite. An excellent documentary on this (though sobering) is on YouTube, below. Other elements of the Event include what is happening in the economy and with the restructuring of government. There, I feel less informed so won't comment much at this time. The mass media is owned by the same people who created the pandemic, and who have the shadow agenda. Their directive is to censor, suppress, manipulate and divide the population. What do you think are the *real* reasons for social distancing?

It is just good to keep the eyes open, and stay alert.

Be well. Feel the Light you are. Highly recommended: the Inner Knowing meditation, a potent nine minutes of experiencing the One Light.

Julia Eaton

An award winning Dr with impressive credentials and previous military service states it is for zeroing in on a person's micro chip whether it is in body or by cellphones' microchips.

When he was in black ops, they had to stay 6ft apart so the satellites could detect them from each other. If you get closer than 6ft apart the imaging/tracking could not pinpoint anyone and they could not tell how many were grouped together cause the signals merge. They couldn't tell the size of the groups by thermal imaging or who they were, i.e. enemy or ours.

The soldiers are micro-chipped for detection, retractable location pullout, AND A VERY BIG AND..... deactivation if needed as in destruction/execution/no acknowledgement of involvement in area of soldier by implant. They could not wear dogtags, nor any insignia of USA including having to tear off the flag on their uniforms so no trace could be tracked to the USA.

Your cell phones, computers, ipads, laptops all carry the detection location chip and 5G activates the wavelengths that can be harmful to your body systems if you are not healthy.

Gary

Yes, that is what I understand. May I reprint your comments on the Whole Human blog?

It is right that people point to the silver lining, but wise to not lose sight of the storm clouds.

Blair Robinson

So many people speak of these situations as if they're actual, lived experiences that they have gone through. But they are not. They are conversations with friends, who've had conversations with other friends, who've watched youtube videos by people who have had conversations with others who have had conversations with others who saw youtube videos that were since taken down. While the good advice is to forget about which are the black pieces and which are the white, it seems like we are constantly asserting to each other that our imagined, probable realities are in fact real, lived, black-and-white experiences. It's no wonder that fear is the order of the day.

Given that none of us, including myself are able to bring actual, lived experiences to these discussions, we must operate in the world of probable realities and that gives us an enormous amount of power - we can simply choose to align with the reality we prefer. We need to board the train that takes us there. We need to stop giving power to those realities we don't prefer by talking about them as if they are actual lived experiences. B

Gary

Help me understand what you are saying, please, Blair.

Both videos mentioned are by highly qualified, credible people. Their information is based on serious research, first-hand reports, and intelligent reasoning.

Information in general which draws only upon 'actual, living experiences' is said to be based on anecdotal evidence and is not generally considered reliable.

Yes, In one sense, 'We need to stop giving power to those realities we don't prefer by talking about them as if they are actual lived experiences.'

As I replied to Julia, 'It is right that people point to the silver lining, but wise to not lose sight of the storm clouds.'

Julia

Yes and I know personally, 1st hand black ops soldiers who do share some details abt past missions.

Are they exaggerating for drama or shock... Who knows, but i do know them and how they act in normal situations which doesn't require exaggerations.

Please do your own research and form your own opinion. What i have found in researching, and yes this is just my opinion: further clarification of 6ft spacing, it's getting humans used to the spacing for monitoring for the future cryptocurrency which is what Gates is implementing. It is based on body heat activity read by microchips, you are paid in cryptocurrency based on activity that fits the guidelines set forth by Microsoft. That's why they just patented the chip for cryptocurrency based future.

Blair Robinson

Gary, I read this as "These are the conclusions I came to after having a discussion with my friend."

For weeks now, I have been doing live sessions and posting in this group about the need for us all to stop the practice of buying into other people's fear-based beliefs and align with our own truths, whatever they may be.

You suggested that an actual physical reality experience - something that happens to YOU in your life - is more anecdotal and 'not generally considered reliable' - compared to something picked up in a conversation or researched online? My perspective is that our actual lived experience is more important in shaping who we are and for us to formulate our truth.

And in the absence of that lived experience, in times like these, it's critically important to connect with the potential realities we prefer, rather than spreading the fear-based beliefs of others.

If what you've written is honestly your truth, honestly the vision of the reality you wish to buy into, by all means, stand up for it and state it as such. But if this story isn't the train you intend to be on, then please go find the one that is, because we need your creative vision to steer us towards the vision for the future that we prefer.

Gary

Blair Robinson - Oi. No, I had the conclusions well-formulated before my friend asked the questions, to which I responded.

Do you think I want to buy into a vision of darkness for humanity?

Blair, I have participated here for many moons. I have always stood up for the higher qualities of human potential.

My vision is rather utopian, of heaven on earth, of individual self-responsibility guided by inner knowing and wisdom.

The vision of the architects of what is happening now in the scenario described in my post, is of human bondage, of assimilation, as I see it.

Absolutely, I keep my eyes on the vision of what I choose for the earth and humanity, which is why my post ends as it does, with the One Light, the Inner Knowing meditation.

Yes, actual experience is the ground of spiritual development. But, we were talking about information on what is really happening behind the scenes. There, like in a court of law, anecdotal evidence is not given much weight, as I understand. Eye witness accounts add to the evidence, but rely too much on personal interpretation to be considered hard evidence.

Whereas, in personal development, actual experience is primo. Reminds me of when as a teen I joined the Theosophical Society. Their motto was, 'There is no religion higher than Truth.' I added, 'The purest form of Truth is experience.' Well, later I had to reflect on that because personal experience can be a mis-guided form of truth as well.

Blair Robinson

'If what you've written is honestly your truth, honestly the vision of the reality you wish to buy into, by all means, stand up for it and state it as such. But if this story isn't the train you intend to be on, then please go find the one that is, because we need your creative vision to steer us towards the vision for the future that we prefer.'

Gary

Blair, I totally respect your view and your wishes here. I take your comments to heart.

This is the first post I have ever published which has been labeled as 'political opinion', 'conspiracy theory' or 'anti-vaxxer.' It was called these in various groups. It will also be the last post of this type I publish in a discussion group.

You wrote, 'It's no wonder that fear is the order of the day.'

Do you remember my post saying, 'If there are enemies and allies, then fear is the enemy and agape love is the ally?'

But, maybe it is healthy to have fear of the right things - not of running out of toilet paper or having our lives changed forever. It could save a life, though, to be afraid of being injected with chips without giving informed consent. Do I want to focus on that? Not at all. Neither do I believe that just focusing on the world I want to see will prevent that potential scenario from becoming the present day reality.

Who would have believed there would be a global lockdown?

Who would have believed the store shelves would be empty?

I feel a need for balance between seeing the silver lining and being aware of the storm clouds, in order for the new world to emerge with fewer complications.

Gary

Liza James - Have you watched the video of the interview with Dr. Buttar? If not, who is churning out propaganda by labeling what others write as anti-vaxxer? How well-informed are you?

Update

After starting to launch my defense, I did some more research myself and saw that claims about the Gates complicity are also debunked. So I stop now to put out anymore claims of this type. I maintain that personally I will decline any vaccination. That is a choice each person has to make.

SNOPES DEBUNK OF BILL GATES COMPLICITY

Julia

Gary R. Smith - from my view, Snopes is not reliable, nor is Google, nor YouTube, nor FB, Wikipedia, etc., nor any mass media platform.

They have emphatically stated that they will delete ANY anti-covid pandemic controversial info and have by deleting posts from frontline Drs refuting the crisis news and how it is being handled/presented/portrayed. Personally I think they twist to their agenda.

If you look up SNOPEs owners and founder, you will find controversy on reporting the truth.

When I checked on the patent # of the WO2020060606 - CRYPTOCURRENCY SYSTEM USING BODY ACTIVITY DATA, Gates' microchip about falling under the Christian belief of "mark of satan 666" in Revelations, which indicates ANY numerical sequence with 3 6s in it is usually associated with this "warning" according to their beliefs, Snopes reports in their findings that the # sequence WO2020060606 cannot be viewed as the mark of the devil cause it does not contain the "666" pattern. To me this is a syntax issue and I disagree. That is not the only SNOPEs fact finding that I disagree with. This is your post and you can portray it as you desire.

Gary

Julia Eaton - Thank you for that additional information. I don't like sitting on the fence, it's a pain in the butt. But in my best efforts to find a balanced view of the Event and all its elements, the middle of the fence seems my option at the moment. On the Whole Human site, I've tried to present a wide range of perspectives, even if my own are more narrow than I'd like to admit. I neither agree nor disagree with your conclusions nor with those of anyone else, but do like to see openness to present all angles.

One more thing. So far, I have read info, with varying and unknown degrees of accuracy, about the virus, pandemic, pedophilia ring and satanic rituals of the wealthy elite, who owns W.H.O. and the media, the Cabal and the Alliance, etc. But so far, I have not read a concise view of the whole picture which includes credible motives.

Are the wealthy elite who participate in pedophilia and satanic rituals arranging for an unlimited supply of human sacrifices?

The Out of Shadows documentary was pretty sobering.

I am not convinced that if the alliance exists and wins, its vision for humanity and the earth will be a train I want to be on, either.

Okay, enough of that dark stuff. Time for a One Light meditation, and to focus on the reality I choose.

Julia

you must remember that you chose to be incarnate in this spectrum of 3D at this linear timeframe for a reason.

You chose to be in this experiential situation to make decisions and a difference while creating your personal reality, contributing to the world's reality according to your perspective of vibration at each given moment, finding the joy and radiating your light in each experience of creation.

3D will always exist and will always have duality, you cannot change that fact cause the entire composition of 3D is polarity/duality/opposition to allow free will creation and to see/experience the action/results of your choices.

You get to master thinking and creating from a 5D and above consciousness while in a limited 3D body living/working in a 3D world. No worries, life will go on no matter what is or is not done. Your experience will be what you perceive it to be.

Gary

Amen!

Liza James

Sitting on the fence is the best way to observe what's happening in both yards <3

[Later the same day....]

Gary - Julia Eaton and Liza James ~

This is so weird, I have stopped what I was watching mid-way to write. Have you ever seen the series, The 4400? Not me, until recently. Started at S1E1, and just now was watching S4E6, 'The Marked.'

It is a very corny plot, about a 4400 sent from the future with the ability to write movies depicting unsolved events like JFK's assassination, showing what actually happened. The series is set in Seattle.

This episode refers to the C.E.O of the 'world's largest computer company' and of a large charitable foundation, with ambitions to control the world. It barely veils that the C.E.O. Is Bill Gates. Then, it describes a meeting in Tunisia in 2005 headed by the C.E.O., with high officials of the Catholic Church, etc.

I don't take it seriously, of course. It is super corny, and the series was aired, what, 10-15 years ago? But, what a 'coincidence', considering this thread. What are the chances I would watch this episode today?

Now I wonder, how long have the conspiracy theories about Microsoft been circulating?

Is there a cult following around this, like the rumors spread in the 90s about P&G and McDonald's having satanic connections?

I have always avoided conspiracy theories such as about the chemtrails, which never made sense to me.

It is time for me to detach from it, for sure, or I get too entangled in the web. Yes, the fence sitting actually gives a good view. And, when there truly is clarity, there are no decisions to be made, there is just knowing what to do.

Liza James - Gary R. Smith I haven't seen the 4400 but I'll give it a look. Basically, what I think is that anything (info/disinfo) put out into the public sphere is a fraction of the big picture.

If you think about the iceberg that sank the titanic, most of it was out of view... the part that sank the ship was out of view! But there's a fraction that's in view. That draws our curiosity and leads us to speculate. There's truth in there, but not all of it by far.

Keeping that notion at the forefront of my open mind helps when I dip my toe into theorizing. I do have a lot of ideas about what's happening right now, but I think the loudest, most extreme messages tend to be the ones that ask us to shut the door on other options. So I'll bide my time and pay attention. And source my research. Seems like that's what you're doing too.

Liza James - As far as the Gates/Elite storyline, I can't say what agreements they've made behind closed doors anymore than I can tell you what Steven Miller has promised Trump, or what my parents said between themselves when they decided it was better for me to not have a relationship with my BioDad's family. What I do know, is that people with much wealth and power who are in the public eye, come under much more scrutiny than those who operate in darkness. Gates has been involved in many global health initiatives. Among other things. I'm sure there are many conversations that we will never be privy to. Vaccination trials are not necessarily pretty experiences. That's why they tend to be done in Third World countries, tested on people who don't have much of an option. There's a lot of death in the world. It's a really easy touchstone to point to if you want to say here's an example of someone killing children. I think we need to be really careful about making that correlation about this topic specifically.

I'd be honored if you feel my thoughts are in line with your whole human message. I'm working on a handbook for identity gardening, using loose principals of multidimensionality & metaphysics along with other things that are a little more firmly developed in our timeline, like the chakra system or the human senses. If you're interested, and send me a message with your email I'll keep you updated on my progression.

Julia - Gary R. Smith lol, how about -- all of the above. What does your meditated intuition tell you???

Gary - My meditated intuition tells me to keep developing the clarity of inner sight, so that whatever happens, when faced with decisions, there are no decisions to be made, because there is only knowing what to do.

UPDATE - MAY 1, 2020

Recently I started watching the 4400 series for the first time. I started with the first episode and have watched about one per day. 'Coincidentally', on the day I got into a discussion in an online group about the Bill Gates conspiracy theories, the episode I watched later, portrayed Bill Gates as a key figure in a plot to control the world by people called the Marked.

The episode I watched on May 1 had the main character, agent Tom Baldwin, taken over in body by an entity from the future, and become one of the Marked.

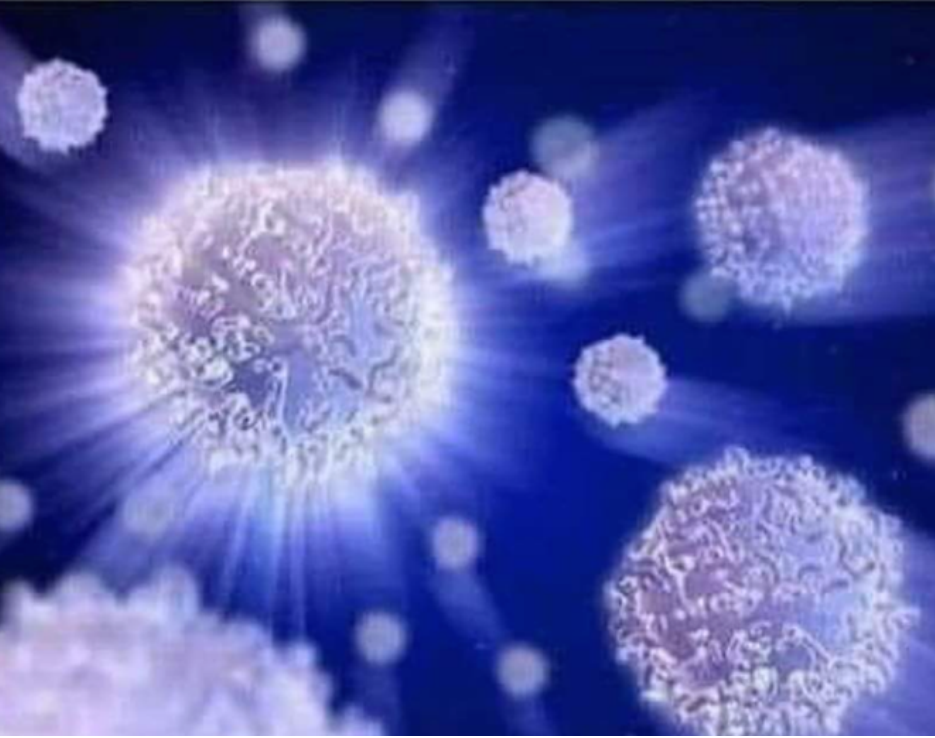

At about five minutes into the episode, Tom Baldwin says, 'If you want to start a new world, first you have to destroy the old one, and disrupting the economy is a pretty good way to start.'

The 4400 series aired about 15 years ago, and was created by Scott Peters and Rene Echevarria.

Gary, my brother, once they have control, in what way are they going to manipulate us?

REPLY

Gary

5/2/2020 10:01:40 pm

Hal,
What do we currently know is fact, what do we suspect is fiction, and what do we guess is speculation?

I know there are cult followers of conspiracy theories. I know it is a fiction that Elvis still lives. Any statement not based either on irrefutable proof or confirmed inner knowing, is either fiction or speculation, in my view.

I feel the masses have been manipulated for ages, by the rich and powerful (though not only), using tools according to the times and circumstances. Mis-information manipulates, so any slanted information is a potential tool.

Now, in these times, there is potential for much more direct manipulation, using tools of technology.

Facts: we know the technology exists for implanting chips in humans so they can be identified (and eliminated?).

If there was recently patented by Microsoft a crypto-currency chip, it should be provable as fact or fiction.

Then, it seems not a stretch to conclude that the manipulators will be in a position to determine who can buy or sell, eventually. When survival depends on it, who will not do what the manipulators want?

The more subtle manipulation is by the media. A person needs to consider every bit of information in light of its possibility of slant, before accepting it fully, to not be manipulated.

Thank you for asking, Hal, my brother.
